CITY TRUSTEES.

Several demands were made upon the city treasury and a report was received from the tax collector. Resolutions of intention to improve Fourth street from A street to Glendale avenue were read. A petition was read from C. E. Stanley and others requesting the trustees to adopt a system of street numbering, starting from the corner of Glendale avenue and Fourth street, numbering east and west from the avenue and north and south from Fourth street. It was referred to the committee on Public Works. A communication was also received from Mr. Leavitt requesting the Board to appoint a committee to look into the matter of the city acquiring a water system and a public park. The matter was referred also to the committee on Public Works. The chairman stated that hereafter all communications of this nature must be filed with the Clerk of the Board by noon of the day of the meeting of the Trustees, so that the members should have some notice of the matters to come before them.

The Board then proceeded to canvass the vote on the bond election of Tuesday the 26th. After doing so it was officially announced that the City Hall bonds had been defeated by a vote of 161 in their favor and 121 against. Bonds for fire apparatus had carried by a vote of 222 to 44. While the Clerk read for the third time the long ordinance for the establishment of a fire district and the regulation of building operations within the same, the audience dwindled away and afterwards the Board adjourned.

THE LEGISLATURE.

Sacramento has at last got just a little bit excited over Berkeley's bid for the state capital; and is branding as falsehoods some of the statements made by the Berkeley promoters reflecting upon the Sacramento climate. Nobody seriously expects to see the capital moved; but it is one of those questions taken up occasionally for the sake of adding a little variety to life and of helping the sale of real estate in the town where it is proposed to put it.

Sacramento is not a lovely place to live, in midsummer, but it is near enough the geographical center of the state to answer the purpose for the capital of California until the southern part becomes disgusted at the dominance of San Francisco in state affairs, and insists upon a division of the state. And that time may not be so very distant, either.

Senator Boynton sprung a small sensation the other day by introducing a resolution for the appointment of a committee to investigate the manufacture of jute bags in the penitentiary at San Quentin. The resolution alleges that the output of the state jute factory has been cornered by speculators who have increased the cost of jute bags fifty per cent. It's quite a while since we had a scandal in connection with San Quentin, and we are quite prepared for anything that may come along from that quarter.

The free text book bill has failed to pass the assembly. This bill proposed to have the county furnish text books gratis. Its defeat, however, is said to be due to the fact that there is to be a constitutional amendment put up to the people which proposes to constitute a state board of education, consisting of the professors of pedagogy of the State University and the principals of the state normal schools, that shall have charge of printing all school books. It now is very apparent that Reuff and Schmitz are behind the change of venue bill, introduced in the assembly by Grove Johnson. This bill proposed to allow any one accused of crime to have his case tried before another court, should he take the trouble to swear that he believes the judge is biased. It is a bill so clearly in the interest of the criminal element that it seems incredible that any legislators should have the audacity to support it, and yet it is charged that in the senate a combination has been made by which the friends of the county division bill, in which Kings and rFesno county are particularly interested, have agreed to support this iniquitous measure for the sake of getting the support of the San Francisco gang for their pet bill.

About this time there is due something of interest in regard to the race track fight. The anti-race track measure introduced by Eshelman passed that body, and its duplicate is buried in the Senate Committee on Public Morals. That it will not be resurrected seems among the probabilities, but Senator Bell says he will call it up at an early day and force the matter to a vote. If he succeeds in doing this and gets the senators on record on the question, he will have accomplished something worth while. The trouble has always been that the minority has lacked a leader with the skill and combativeness to compel a roll call on measures of this nature. If greater publicity should be given to the action of our legislature and the public could always be informed as to the position of their representatives on the measures which they vote upon, there would soon be results forthcoming that would be worth while, for the average statesman fears public criticism; and the criticism they usually receive is based not on their votes, as much as upon general principles.

In an interview District Attorney Jerome accuses the New York detectives of "standing in" with thieves. He declares that only four officers in the department do not do so.

Reuff and Schmitz trying to get the legislature to pass bill giving accused in criminal cases the right to secure change of venue upon allegation of bias on part of judge.

Government decides not to make contracts for work on Panama Canal. President explains that contractors had arranged to divide profits with bankers; objects to the principle.

A New Style in Temperance

Miss Marie Brehm will speak at the Presbyterian church next Thursday evening on Scientific Temperance.

Miss Brehm is the special lecturer of the Presbyterian Assembly's Board of Temperance. She has but a few days to give to Southern California and the Glendale people are privileged to hear her. Dr. Talmage, of the First Presbyterian church, Los Angeles, who has heard her, will give her his pulpit next Sabbath evening. It is hoped that a large number of our citizens will embrace this opportunity to hear her.

CITRUS FRUIT SHIPMENT.

Most of the packing houses are running full time. The Citrus Union which handles the fruit of the C. E. Thom and other orchards, has sent out for the season up to date, seventeen cars of oranges and five of lemons, about one-fourth of the total they expect to handle. Lemons are picked here once in every six weeks and a new picking is just beginning.

At Judge Ross' packing house 18 cars of oranges have gone forward and five of lemons. The crop in this orchard is good both in quality and quantity this season and will probably amount to 75 carloads of oranges and half as many lemons. It is being handled this year by F. P. Corson, an independent shipper, formerly with Pinkhorn & McKevitt.

The Sparr Fruit Company has been sending out mixed carloads generally, and has shipped this season 15 carloads in all, of which about two-thirds were oranges. Pinkham & McKevitt are now working on lemons from the Lukens and other orchards, having only shipped two straight carloads of oranges since New Years. This is the only house that seems to be troubled on account of the car shortage.

At the Wing orchard on Sixth street eight carloads of Navels have been packed and shipped through the Semi-Tropic Fruit Exchange. Mrs. Wing, who has charge of the work, reported only about one carload left; the fruit is of good quality showing the results of good care and the application of fertilizer which has been used liberally the past season.

VISIT OF LIBRARY ORGANIZER.

Miss Bertha Kumle, one of the two library organizers who is kept in the field at the expense of the state, for the purpose of furthering library interests, recently met the promoters of library work in Glendale at a joint meeting of the executive, library and room committees of the Tuesday Afternon Club. Miss Kumle while having a vacation in Los Angeles is also visiting many of the libraries in Southern California at the request of Mr. Gillis, the state librarian at Sacramento, and her genial presence and comprehensive and intelligent suggestions in regard to library work was much appreciated by the ladies. Miss Kumle spoke very encouragingly of the work accomplished during the year since the library has been organized but thought that Glendale must soon take the step, which most places of its size find desirable, of becoming a public library.

The library management wishes to call the attention of the public to the change of library hours. Hereafter the library will be open from three to five o'clock, instead of three to six, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Stutsman of Seattle, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Talbott. They are delighted with Glendale.

This Paper is a Member of the Los Angeles County Press Association.

Yes, my son; this is a picture of the members of the Board of Trustees of the city of Glendale.

Oh, yes, they are a good looking set of men.

Are they self-made men? Oh, no, my son; the Almighty made them.

Eh! What's that? He didn't? And you say he is doing business on the Boulevard?

Good gracious, my son, don't tell it to anybody. Now go out and play.

A Question of Etiquette

Mr. James Jeffries, our illustrious fellow citizen (whom we smaller men greatly respect), says that "no gentleman would fight a nigger." Correct, James; your position does you much credit; only we wonder, dear James, what would happen if a real ungentlemanly son of Ham should land his clenched ham-like fist upon your proboscis in a manner not kindly, but rather dynamic! Would you immediately proceed to exterminate the negro race, or would your gentlemanly instincts predominate and impel you to remain quiescent upon the face of mother earth?

Our columns are open for your reply, James; but send it by mail, don't call at the office!

Starving China

Fifteen million people of all ages starving to death in China.

It is the most terrible calamity of the century, and yet our people hear but little of and know less about it. The disaster was brought about in the first place by a flood of rain, the streams overflowing a vast extent of country—a tract equal in extent to the state of Ohio, and probably more thickly populated.

The details of the sufferings of these unfortunate human beings are too terrible to be dwelt upon needlessly; but it may briefly be said that the imagination cannot exaggerate them. The Christian Herald of New York has organized the China Relief Fund, and will gladly receive contributions.

Longfellow

One hundred years ago he was born, and his centenary is being celebrated not only in lands where the English language is spoken, but in many other lands beyond the seas, whose people appreciate as their own the rhythmic lines of soothing sound that have been translated for their service, and have added to the brightness of their lives.

It has been said of him that "no man ever lived who was nearer the ideal of a gentleman and a scholar." He was one of the most scholarly of our poets, and his verse was nearly always mechanically perfect. He sang the songs of humanity, himself in strong sympathy with its universal heart. For over half a century he wrote the songs of the people, holding with his great American contemporaries, Holmes and Whittier, the high honor of occupying, while yet alive, one of the highest niches in the temple of fame. His soul was lighted by the undoubted spark of genius, which never broke forth in brilliant sputtering, nor flamed up to the heavens, but burned with a pure and steadfast light which still shines into and mellows down the dark places of the world, and lightens the sorrows of the sons of men.

The Bond Election

At the election on Tuesday, 162 of the 284 votes cast favored the issue of bonds for a city hall, 121 votes being cast against it; a good majority in favor of the proposition. The law, however, requires a majority vote of two to one, so that technically and legally the bonds for that purpose were not approved—a case in which the majority does not rule.

We have no fault to find with the law, however; the two-thirds requirement upon so serious a matter is a very wise provision; and as long as that majority cannot be secured, we quite cheerfully submit to the result. We still think that the failure to approve of the city hall bonds deprives Glendale of results which we might as well be receiving at once, as to depend upon getting at some future time. Condensed, therefore, the result means that Glendale loses a year of progressive movement which it might as well have for immediate use.

The ultimate results may be sufficient to compensate us, and we sincerely hope they may be. We believe that in a year from now the people of Glendale will be ready and willing to build a city hall which will cost more than it was just now proposed to expend, and toward that end we shall direct our efforts.

The Mission of Hon. 'Gene

The Hon. 'Gene Schmitz and his choice aggregation of fellow statesmen of the San Francisco board, having had a conference with President Roosevelt upon the subject of Japanese in the public schools of San Francisco, have, as gracefully as the circumstances permit, climbed down from their high pedestal and are returning home and with their blushing honors successfully concealed from the envious gaze of an awestruck world. They concede the point they went to Washington to make, and have the promise of a concession which doesn't concede.

Mr. Roosevelt carries a club as the world knows; has "an eye to threaten and command," and another eye with mesmeric power which he turns upon his opponents when meeting them face to face, and lures them on to dance to the tune of his desires.

So Mr. Schmitz and party return to San Francisco freely acknowledging that the gentleman in the White House is a great man, a lovely personality; in fact, one of their own kind! And this is the gold brick they bring back with them. It is disguised diplomatically in the form of a proposed amendment to the immigration bill, and is to provide that:

"Whenever the president is satisfied that passports issued by any foreign government to its citizens to go to any other country than the United States . . . are being used to enable the holders to come to the United States . . . the president may refuse to permit them to enter."

This means that coolies who have been permitted by their government to come to the Sandwich Islands, or other possessions of the United States, shall not be allowed to come to the continental territory of the United States. There is nothing in it to prevent Japanese laborers from coming to the United States direct, if they can secure passports from their government. And the same law will apply to other countries than Japan.

The great war scare of the yellow journals seems to have vanished in a sea of ink, and blood is no longer visible on the face of the moon!

JAPS PLENTIFUL.

Start a Strawberry Project Below This City.

One thousand Japanese are located on the Sierra Vista tract south of this city, forming a nucleus for a colony of at least three thousand, who expect soon to be established in homes convenient to this land.

They are there for the purpose of developing the strawberry industry to large proportions. The land is especially adapted to the cultivation of this fruit. Two-thirds of the tract is already set out to the berries and the colony is busy finishing the work. It will when completed be the largest tract of strawberries in Los Angeles county, it is said.

In connection with the Sierra Vista tract thirty acres of the Polk ranch and forty acres of the Shrode ranch have been rented, and this also goes into strawberries. Wells have been sunk for irrigation, the land piped and flumed and all in readiness for the cultivation of the crop.

Several of the Japanese have rented this land and they subrent to the other Japs for two-thirds of the crop raised.

"Lucky" Baldwin is also going into the strawberry business extensively. He has eighty acres set out and about five hundred Japanese have been secured to care for it. This tract is located between Baldwin avenue and Santa Anita avenue on the Dalton road. He has sunk wells and dug ditches for the proper preparation.

Mr. Baldwin puts this work exclusively in the hands of the Japanese. The ones he employs are of a higher caste and he says they do their work well, have steady habits, and not only make money for their employer but make money for themselves.—Monrovia News.

A REVIEW OF OLD PAPERS.

Dr. Leach has favored us with a copy of the Ulster County Gazette published at Kingston, Ulster county, New York and bearing date of Jan. 1, 1800. The first column or two is devoted to an account of the opening of Congress, with the reply of President Adams to the address of both houses.

"It is interesting to note that the date of the latest European dispatches is Oct. 18 and among them is the English report of the battle of Zurich, in which a defeat is acknowledged. A dispatch from Paris announces that Bonaparte and Berthier have arrived in Paris from Egypt.

On the third page we find an account of the burial of Washington, dated Georgetown, Dec. 20; beginning with an eulogy in which he is termed "The Father of his country and the friend of man."

Luther Andres & Co announce that they "have this day a stock of goods both fresh and gay for which they are willing to receive wheat, rye, buckwheat, oats, corn butter and hides; and then they add facetiously "Cash will not be refused."

Here is a copy of the Northern Sentinel, published at Burlington, Vermont, dated May 3, 1822. It has not so much of historical interest as the first paper, but is something of particular interest showing that there were prophets in those days: "By a calculation in a late Albany Advertiser it apears that should the population of the United States increase in the same proportion that it has for the last ten years, it will amount in 1900, to 100,453,881," which was not a bad calculation at all. We notice that Dr. Farr of London announces the discovery of a cure for cancer, which shows that the doctors of that day were quite up to date.

The Aetna Insurance Company of Hartford, Conn., was already advertising for patronage.

Dr. Leach has also a number of old papers bearing date of 1754 and 1755, time stained and worn, which are of great interest to anyone who enjoys delving into the past.

Wednesday morning while employees of the electric light company were taking down wires, Mrs. M. M. Winslow, mother of Mrs. Edgar Leavitt, fell over a wire sagging over the sidewalk just north of the post office on Glendale avenue, and fell with her whole weight on the cement walk, severely spraining her wrist and limb so that she suffered great pain and will probably for a long time be unable to be about.

Mr. W. E. Tarr, accompanied by his daughter Blanche, Mrs. Blinkhorn and Lawrence Tarr, went to Riverside last Friday to attend the 54th anniversary of the wedding of an uncle and aunt of Mr. Tarr. Miss Blanche furnishes the following account of their trip:

"Friday afternoon there was a flag raising on Rubidoux mountain and among others present were the members of the band from the Sherman Institute (Indian school) who furnished music.

"Saturday was spent in preparations for the event of the evening. About 5 o'clock the people began to arive until quite a large company had gathered to help celebrate the happy event. There was a short program, refreshments were served and a very enjoyable social time followed.

"After attending church Sunday and hearing a fine sermon by Brother Inwood, we started out for a drive. We first drove up the beautiful winding driveway that leads to the top of Rubidoux mountain, winding three times around the mountain before it reaches the summit. The driveway does not go quite to the summit, but steps are being made by which to reach the highest point. The view from the summit is a very fine one, and the scenery the most beautiful I have ever seen. Returning we visited the Sherman Institute where the Indians are. The buildings and grounds are beautiful. We also drove to Chewana Park, an Indian park, which is a pleasant place. The county hospital, which we passed is a very fine building. We passed the ostrich farm and drove down Magnolia avenue, enjoying the beautiful view and saw the palm tree planted by President McKinley when he made his visit to Riverside. Victoria mountain which we drove around has a winding driveway similar to that on Rubidoux mountain, but is not so high. It is leveled off on top and has flowers growing upon it. We returned home Monday morning, having had a delightful time."

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The second team played the regular boys' basket ball team a tie-score game Monday afternoon.

Chas. Fraley of the Freshman class has stopped his school work for the present to go into business.

Polytechnic High will meet the Glendale girls Saturday afternoon for a basket ball game on the local court.

Iva Hunter spent Sunday in Santa Ana, her former home. John Smalley is still suffering with a severe attack of tonsilitis.

The entertainment for the benefit of Athletics Wednesday evening was a success from every standpoint. Every number was excellent and the attendance just as good. We wish to thank all who so generously assisted in making the occasion a success.

Last Saturday's game with the Whittier High girls' basket ball team at that place resulted in a tie score, which when played off resulted in a victory for Whittier. The game was very unsatisfactory in many respects. The Whittier team was not especially courteous in its treatment of the visitors, and the student body acted like a bunch of muckers. The score was 9 to 12 in favor of Whittier.

STUDENTS' CORNER.

A question box has been hung up in the Students' Corner, not too high to be reached, even by juveniles in quest of information. We find in it one poser for classes in geography and history of the United States.

What, and where is Newport News, and what was the origin of the name?

Here is another question:

What use is made of the Bruce photographic telescope on Mt. Wilson.

CONCERNING THE VELOCITY OF LIGHT.

Following your excellent article on sun spots and the velocity of light in last week's issue of the News, perhaps a brief consideration of some of the marvels of light may be interesting to your readers.

Light travels faster than electricity or any other known agency or energy except gravitation, which has the mysterious quality of being absolutely instantaneous in its operation over any distance.

Sound travels very slowly in comparison, moving only 1100 feet per second.

The difference in velocity of light and sound may be witnessed by any person who will watch a carpenter hammering from a little distance: the striking of the blow will be seen before the sound of it reaches the ear. Similarly, from a greater distance, the flash of a gun will be seen long before the sound of the explosion will be heard, and many other familiar examples of the same phenomenon will readily occur to the reader.

But for the appreciable display of the enormous velocity of light the earth is far too small, being only 25,000 miles round at the equator, not one-seventh the distance light travels in a space of time so brief that it passes while you take a breath!

The moon, our very nearest celestial neighbor, is distant about 240,000 miles, or about 10 times the circumference of the earth, a distance light travels in about one and one-third seconds. From the sun, as you stated last week, it takes rather over eight minutes.

Outside our little solar system, the nearest star is about 20 billion miles away. It is the brightest star in the constellation Centaur in the southern hemisphere, and is known to astronomers as Alpha Centauri; to traverse this vast distance takes light about three years and three months.

Now these facts lead to the curious conclusion that we never see these various objects, as they really are at the time we are gazing at them, but only as they were at the time of the departure of the light by which we see them. And Alpha Centauri might be blotted out of exisetnce three years and three months before we should become aware of it. If this star, so distant, is the very nearest one to us, we are lost in contemplation of the awful distances of the others beyond;

All these bare statements, however, although firmly established beyond the shadow of a doubt, convey little or no meaning to the human mind, and as so few of us have the necessary time and special training to prove them for ourselves, we must take them on faith like almost every other fact of human experience.

Real Estate

R. A. Blackburn reports the following sales: Two lots in the Boynton tract to George Pritchard; former owner Samuel Sharp.

George Pritchard sells to Willis Norton a lot 135x255 on the corner of Sixth and A streets.

To Thomas Watson by Dr. Hale, three lots on corner of Fifth and L streets.

The Thomas Watson home place on Fourth street to Dr. Hale.

Lot on Orange Grove avenue to Florence M. Sherman.

T. W. Blackburn has bought lot 94 of Lankershim ranch, consisting of forty acres, near Toluca.

Lot 32, block 5, on I street above Third, sold to Mr. Dysart.

The Erkenbrecher Syndicate is making extensive improvements on their property known as the Garden Home Tract, corner of Ninth and Glendale avenue. The land has been divided up, streets opened and sidewalks laid thro and around its property. There are to be four handsome entrances built to the property, the contract for the work having been awarded to E. K. Grant.

Five lots have been sold in the Livingston Tract this week and four houses will be erected at once, two of which will cost $2500 each and the other two will cost $4000 each.

Two lots have been sold to the Odd Fellows' Hall Association, corner of Third and I streets, upon which they will erect a brick building in the near future.

L. C. Brand has commenced the foundation for another two-story brick-block adjoining the present one, on Brand Boulevard between Third and Fourth. It is rumored that another block is to be erected on the southeast corner of Third street and the Boulevard.

The Weather

After two weeks or more of warm weather such as we usually get in the month of February, we have lately been experiencing a cooler temperature which has resulted for the last three or four mornings in light frosts in the lower portions of the valley. For the benefit of the "tenderfoot" in our midst, we will say that there has been nothing unusnal about our February weather. It has been just a fair average. In fact, the winter has been a normal one; the only really "unusual" thing about our weather for the season beginning with the autumn of last year, being the frost which was experienced on the low ground on the 23d of October, ten days earlier than we have had frost in any season of the last twenty-five years.

Speaking of weather—which is always a fascinating subject—the Texas legislature recently had introduced therein a resolution requesting the government to take steps to perpetuate the Salton Sea, alleging that owing to its existence there has been an excess of sixteen inches over the average rainfall at El Paso during the present season, and that Arizona and New Mexico have also been benefited in a similar manner.

Now here comes the Los Angeles Evening News approving the Texas idea, on the ground that the Salton Sea is responsible for the cold weather experienced here last November! So there you are; and it is evident that the statesman who endeavors to regulate the weather, either by the Salton Sea, the ground hog, the pig's liver, the moon or any of the old reliables, is likely to come to grief with at least a portion of his constituency.

She Came and Went

A lady came to our city one day,
From an eastern city afar,
Where they never ride in the wabbling way
She came in our dinkey car.
But the day was fair and the lady was kind,
So she said, with her face aglow,
The way we ride we need not care,
If into an Eden we go.
Then she happily walked the sidewalked side,
Up to the buildings of stone;
This suits me well, the lady said;
Her voice had a joyous tone
This building shows they are up to date
And money I have galore;
Here will I invest, ere yet it is late,
It will add to my golden store.
She went the sidewalked side along,
By trees with fruit of gold,
To take just one will be no wrong,
At least so I am told.
How good it will taste, the lady thought,
After my weary route,
When from a door these words she caught:
"Just leave alone that fruit."
Quickly she crossed the dusty street,
Away from the sidewalked side,
Then followed a road with weary feet
Where rocks and weeds abide.
Then a happy thought came as a flash,
I will go to the park, she said,
Where flowers bloom and fountains plash;
So she followed a road that led
To where she could see tall waving trees—
Beyond were emerald hills;
She could almost feel the cooling breeze
And hear the sonnd of rills.
She came at last to the beautiful trees,
But the ground was dusty and bare.
To a farmer she said, "Will you tell me, please,
If the park is over there?
The park where the beautiful flowers abound?"
Thus answered the man with the hoe:
"These trees are all on private ground;
For parks to Los Angeles we go."
Sadly the lady picked her way
Back to the dinkey car,
And the gold she has will be put away
For the city with parks afar.

STEAMED POTATOES.

Properly Cooked, They Are White, Mealy and Nutritious.

The potato is, on the whole, the most valuable of all our vegetables, since in nutritive value it stands next to wheat. When we consider how universally the potato is used in this country, a large proportion of our people deriving their chief sustenance from this plant, we have as yet made little advance in the art of perparing this most useful vegetable for our tables. We boil and bake potatoes. Beyond this the cooking of this most valuable of all roots is comparatively unknown. We commit, moreover, several cardinal errors in boiling potatoes. We very frequently find them on our tables nearly ruined, unpalatable and waterlogged. The most nutritious part, which lies just under the skin, is thrown away in peeling.

If young and tender, take off the surface skin by scrubbing with a stiff brush; if old, scrape with a blunt knife. It is never best to let them remain in contact with the boiling water. The best way is to place a quart of water in the kettle, cover with a steamer and put over a brisk fire. When the water boils, put the potatoes in the steamer, the largest at the bottom, boil briskly until done, then remove the steamer lid, fold a clean towel, cover the potatoes, first sprinkling a small teaspoonful of salt over them. In five minutes they will be white and mealy—a feast for hungry people.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Mother Goose Party

The Tuesday Afternoon Club entertained about 150 guests in a delightfully charming and novel manner, last Tuesday evening, in I. O. O. F. hall.

The affair was in charge of Mrs. W. C. Fraley, who is well known in local society for her genuine hospitality and originality in planning social functions.

The hall never presented so beautiful a picture; myriads of potted plants were most artistically arranged; masses of all seasonable flowers were in profusion, imparting an air of fragrance, so pleasing to the senses. The club colors, yellow and green, were appropriately symbolized by the feathery blossoms and foliage of the acacia, which was profusely arranged with charming effect.

The many members and friends, whose costumes represented Mother Goose characters, cleverly carried out the parts they impersonated, and the thundering applause that echoed and re-echoed throughout the hall told of the hits that each was making. Space will not permit of individual mention, but Mother Goose seemed particularly fortunate in having such a fine family. Higgledy Piggledy, with her black hen, was most amusing; the man who went to London to buy a wife, bringing her home in a wheelbarrow, brought storms of laughter. Jack Be Nimble was there with the traditional candlestick, as well as Tom the Piper's Son, with his stolen pig; most unmistakable were Simple Simon, the old woman in the shoe, and the old woman who swept the sky clean. Mary, quite Contrary, made a decided hit, while the Queen of Hearts only lacked the knave to steal the tarts. Little Boy Blue, Bo-Peep, Red Riding Hood, Daffy Down Dilly, old woman under the hill, Nancy Etticoat, the ten o'clock scholar, the queen in Sing a Song of Sixpence, all showed much ingenuity in their various costumes.

Mrs. Edgar W. Pack, president of the club, took the chair and in a few well-chosen words welcomed the guests of the evening, then presented the literary and musical numbers on the program. Mrs. Ellen B. Newcomb gave original Mother Goose rhymes, which were most generously applauded. Charmion Snow of Los Angeles sang in a very sweet voice, "Because I Love You, Dear," after which she impersonated the Italian leader of band music, with all the flourishes of the baton, bringing much applause. Miss Maynard of Los Angeles gave readings which showed much culture and ability. Miss Wenger, accompanied by Mrs. Moyse, sang in a most pleasing manner "Eyes of Blue." Miss Ruth Snow rendered an instrumental solo which was highly appreciated. Mr. F. C. Hezmalhalch gave two vocal numbers in his usual finished style.

The costumers then formed for the grand march, with Mother Goose and Tom the Piper's Son leading. During the march the judges were afforded an opportunity to decide the four best costumes, and award the prizes accordingly. Their unanimous decision gave the first prize to Mr. and Mrs. Church; second prize, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor; third prize, Mr. and Mrs. Fraley; fourth, Miss Irene Ward.

A sumptuous supper was served, and as the guests prepared to return to their homes each one voted the "Tuesday Afternoon Club" to be an exceptionally bountiful entertainer.
